

Geld regiert die Welt

A photograph of a garment factory. In the foreground, a woman is seated at a desk, operating a white Singer sewing machine. The desk is part of a long row of similar workstations. In the background, another worker is visible, and the room is filled with rows of sewing machines. The floor is cluttered with large piles of dark fabric, likely clothing components. The walls are somewhat worn, and a fire extinguisher is visible on the wall in the background.

Warum die
Marktwirtschaft wieder
sozial werden muss
